

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

When considering the USF proposal please consider those of us who live in rural America and have no good options for long distance service. Our local phone company does not offer competitive rates and nothing else is available to us. We use our pre-paid calling cards and Tracfone as they are our only reasonably priced option for long distance calls. We also use our tracfone for emergency and security reasons as we live out in the Ozarks in a very remote area. When one is stranded they are a long way from help. So please consider those of us in sparsely populated rural America. We want to continue to use the prepaid card and tracfone as reasonably priced options for service. Thank you, Judy Miller, 13098 MC 8001, Yellville, AR 72687

Sincerely,

Judy Miller
